

If you're struggling with self harm

My therapist told me, instead of hurting myself, I should draw something pretty where I want to cut. This is the result. And it works, honestly.

If you're struggling with self harm I really recommend this.

(Make sure you use a marker and not a pen cause pens can hurt you!)